References to the GS certificate:

This GS certificate applies only to the company designated on the first side and the indicated production plants. It can be transferred only by the GS certification body to third.

With the GS sign illustrated on page 1 only the indicated product may be provided.

If the conditions are not more present for the awarding GS signs, the document of identification can be explained for invalid and/or withdrawn.

The GS certification body accomplishes control measures for the monitoring of the production of the product described in this certificate and for the legal use of the GS signs.

The manufacturer is obligated to keep the conditions which are necessary for a correct manufacturing.

Therefore the manufacturer has to supervise among other things the manufacturing of the product provided with the GS sign constantly for accordance with the test regulations and he has to accomplish and/or bear the check tests duly which are specified in the test regulations or demanded by the GS certification body.

To this GS certificate the test sequences and/or trading conditions of the inspection body apply.

This certificate is a translation from the German version. In the case of doubt the German original certificate applies.
